

From the Office of Communication and Intergovernmental Relations

Biography of Margo Moehring, AICP

Director of Strategic Initiatives
Northeast Florida Regional Council

Margo Moehring joined the Council staff as Director of Strategic Initiatives in January 2008. In this capacity, she leads Council efforts to establish and implement a vision for the First Coast. Prior to joining the Council, she was appointed Chief of the Strategic Planning Division of the City of Jacksonville, Planning and Development Department, as well as filling other several planning positions with the Department.

Margo was born and raised in the Bronx. Before moving to Florida in 2000, she was Executive Director of Strategic Planning with the New York City Department of Citywide Administrative Services, Division of Real Estate Services.

Margo graduated from Jacksonville University and has a Master of Philosophy Degree in Town Planning from University College, London. She has taught as an adjunct lecturer at the University of North Florida, Graduate School of Public Administration and has lectured at the Bartlett School of Architecture and Planning, University College, London. Margo is also a graduate of the French Culinary Institute in New York City.

She was the 2007 recipient of the "Planner of the Year" award presented by the First Coast Section of the Florida Chapter of the American Planning Association.

Margo is a member of the American Institute of Certified Planners and the Royal Town Planning Institute.

For more information on Margo Moehring or the Northeast Florida Regional Council, please contact the Director of Communication and Intergovernmental Relations, Michael Hadden, at (904) 279-0880.